Police Commissioner Greene announced vesterday afternoon that he would no grant any more of the so-called "permapent or thirty-day licenses for the sale of liquor between 1 and 5 A. M. This action will affect many of the most prominent hotels and restaurants in town.

The law requires that the Deputy Commissioner of Excise shall issue these allnight licenses for one or more specified days," upon permits signed by the Mayor and the head of the Police Department. It has been customary to refer applications first to the captain of the preinct for approval.

Little trouble has been had by any rep utable hotel or restaurant in obtaining such a license in the past. For it the proprietor paid $300, or $10 per night. Some places now have thirty-day licenses which have not expired and Gen. Greene will not ct in these cases until the time limit is up. It was reported at Headquarters yester day that an application for a thirty-day license from the Waldorf-Astoria had been refused. T. M. Hilliard, the manager, said ast night that the hotel had never had continuous all-night license and hadn't any intention of asking for one.

The only time we need an all-night license," said Mr. Hilliard, "is when we have a ball in the hotel, such as the German Charity ball on Wednesday night. We had an all-night license then. Our bar and restaurants close at the prescribed time."

One of the applications made yesterday was for the Shanley restaurant in Broadway near Thirtieth street. This was re-fused because Capt. Miles O'Reilly of the Tenderloin would not approve.

The application was made in order to amodate patrons from the Old Guard ball. The restaurant men said they had anticipated entertaining more than a thou sand Old Guarders, but that their guests after 1 o'clock would have to be content with tea, coffee or milk.

The Old Guard ball itself had the only all-night license in use last night in the Tenderloin at the Metropolitan Opera House. Many of the Tenderloin restaurants have been in the habit of selling liquor until long after 1 without the formality of an all-night license. The blotter at the Tenderloin police sta-

"I won't indorse the application of any restaurant for an all-night license." said he. "After 1 o'clock in the morning no place ought to sell liquor. It's time then for people to be in bed. A ball is a different matter. Occasions like that need a license and I'll approve such applications."

Gen. Greene explained that the question of discrimination had arisen and he had decided not to renew any of the long-time licenses until he got things straightened out.

"All licenses will be refused," said the Commissioner, "until I get my mind clear about this question. The applications of some places are not approved, while others are. Then, again, some places have not even troubled themselves to apply for a license. Perhaps some of them have been selling liquor without paying any license fee and I want to find out about it. If any place that has a right to do so wishes to keep open all night we want to collect the

INSPECTOR GRANT'S TRIAL ENDS

Testimony Against Capt. Stephenson Introduced Against Him.

Police Inspector Donald Grant was tried resterday morning at Police Headquarters before Deputy Commissioner Ebstein. The charges against him grow out of those against Capt. Stephenson of the Mulberry street station. Stephenson was accused of failing to close disorderly houses in his precinct and Grant is accused of countersigning his reports. Assistant District Attorney Morgan, who conducted the cise for the prosecution, moved that all the prosecution's evidence at the Stephenson trial should be admitted against Grant, and W. M. K. Olcott, his counsel, agreed on condition that he should be allowed to object to some testimony of Jerome's county detectives-"stool pigeons"

DOUBLE BURIAL AT TRINITY. Warner Vault Opened for the Interment of Mr. and Mrs. Ward.

The hurrying crowds of lower Broadway stopped yesterday to witness the now unusual spectacle of a burial in the old Trinity churchyard. The services were for Willet Coles Ward and his wife, Elizabeth Fowler Ward. Their bodies were laid together in the Warner family vault, south of the church. Mrs. Ward, before her marriage forty years ago. was Miss Warner and her family had belonged to Trinity parish for years.

Mr. Ward was 85 years old. His wife was Mr. Ward was so years old. His whe was 83. They went together for a drive last week and each caught a cold which de-veloped into pneumonia. Mr. Ward died on Sunday and his wife two days later. She was not told of her husband's death, as the members of the family and the physician knew that she must follow him within a day or so.

There were no services yesterday at the home, 218 West Ninety-first street. The two bodies were brought downtown in the forencen, accompanied by relatives, and first placed in the church.

The burial service was read by the Rev. Joseph W. Hill, a curate of Trinity. The service was attended by a score of relatives including three married daughters and several of Mr. Ward's old business associates. Mr. Ward was formerly a fruit importer. LYNCH CASE GOES TO JURY. The Court Rules Against Him on Legal Special Cable Despatch to TES SUN LONDON, Jan. 22.—The case of Col. Lynch, who is accused of treason for having served with the Roers in the late war, went to the jury to-day.

Col. Lynch's counsel opened the case with an argument in favor of the legality of throwing off one's nationality during a time of war. He declared there were at least 20,000 British-born men in the American merchant marine during the War of

Col. Lynch's lawyer also argued that, even if the Court decided he was a British subject, he should be sent for trial to the country of his birth, namely, Australia. Moreover, it was not alleged that the prisoner went to the Transvaal with the direct object of joining the enemy's forces. He refrained from any overt act until he became an alien.

The Attorney-General contended tha there was a strong case of treason against Col. Lynch. He said that all Lynch's arrangements in the Transvaal were for the purpose of actively cooperating with the enemy.

The Court decided the question of law against Col. Lynch and directed that the case go to the jury.

One of the witnesses called by the de-fence was M. Letellier, editor of Le Journal of Paris. He testified that in September, 1899, Col. Lynch applied for the position of war correspondent for the paper and received the appointment to go to South ceived his articles

FOR A TAX ON FRANCHISES.

ORIGINAL FORD BILL INTRO-DUCED IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Bill to Prohibit the Use of Pictures of Any Living Person Without Written Consent -Another to Increase Number of Municipal Court Justices in This City.

ALBANY. Jan. 22.—The original Ford Franchise Tax bill is again before the L gislature and is in the possession of the Assembly Taxation Committee. The bill was introduced to-day by Assemblyman John H. Fitzpatrick (Tam. N. Y.). The bill simply provides that franchises shall be taxed as real property and leaves the assessmen as well as the collection of the tax, in the hands of the local assessors. This bill was introduced last year by ex-Senator Donnelly of New York, and at the hearing before the Senate Taxation Com nittee Senato Ford appeared in favor of the bill. He ther said that he felt sure that the bill passed at the Roosevelt special session would be declared unconstitutional. Assemblyman Fitzpatrick comes from Senator Donnelly's district. Senator Elsberg, at the request of the New York City Board of Trade and T. ansportation, introduced a bill making it a nisdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for one year, to use for commercial purposes or for purposes of trade the name, portrait or picture of any living person unless the written consent of such person is nest obtained. It also provides that a person may sue and the jury may award exemplary damages where he act is violated.

The Senate to-day passed its first bill of the session, that of Senator Ambler, authorizing the appropriation of $10,000 to be expended by the Commissioner of Agriculture in maintaining the quarantine against animals affected with hoof and against animals affected with hoof and mouth disease.

Senator Russel (Tam.) wants to increase the number of Municipal Court Justices in New York city, and in a bill he introduced provides for the appointment by Mayor Low of eleven additional Justices in Manhattan borough and five in Brooklyn borough. Their successors are to be elected at next fall's election. The bill also provides that hereafter the Municipal Court in each district in these two boroughs shall be held in two parts. e held in two parts be held in two parts.

Assemblyman Hirson introduced a novel bill in the way of regulating theatres. This is supposed to be in the interests of the people of the stage, and if it should be enacted into a law the dingy dressing rooms would have to go, for his measure provides that each room must be eight feet wide, ten feet long and nine feet high, and that the gas lets must be properly prothat the gas jets must be properly pro-tected. The proscenium opening curtain of every hall shall be of some incombusti-ble material. The factory inspector is to Senator Merton E. Lewis (Rep., of Rochester) introduced a concurrent resolution today which was referred to the Committee on Canals on motion of Senator George A. Davis of Buffalo. It points out that there is not at hand now reliable information as to the cost of the construction of a barge canal; that the Federal Government has already spent $400,000 in causing different surveys to be made for a ship canal through this State along different routes; that the extensive improvement of the canals is a national question and requesting Senator Platt and Representative Sereno E. Payne to secure such legislation as will complete the surveys instituted by the Federal Govern surveys instituted by the Federal Govern ment, so that complete knowledge of the cost of the proposed canal improvements will be at hand. The resolution of Senator Lewis is taken as the first step of the anticanal members of the Legislature against the improvement of the canals at the expense of the State.

These bills were introduced:

Assemblyman Prince—Requiring the time when goods packed or canned were put up to be printed on the labels.
Assemblyman Finch—Providing for a board of barber examiners to regulate the barber business in the State.

ODELL'S INDIRECT TAX BILLS. He Says They Must Pass or He Will Cut Appropriations Right and Left.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.-Gov. Odell is to exercise all his power as chief executive of the State to have the Legislature pass the indirect revenue bills which he recommended in his annual message. All of these bills, with the exception of the Special Fanchise Tax Law Repeal bill, will be introduced next week. They include a stamp tax on acknowledgments before notaries and on deeds of property recorded and a four mill

The Governor has informed Republican eaders in the Legislature that the Republican party is pledged to the abolition of all direct taxes and that if he cannot accomplish it with the aid of the Legislature through new indirect revenue laws, he will accomplish it with the aid of the legislature through new indirect revenue laws, he will endeavor to carry out his pledge to the people, made last fall, by cutting appropriations right and left. This implied threat of the Governor does not alarm those members of the Legislature who realize that there are three distinct branches of the State Government—legislative, executive and judicial—each restricted to the exercise of its own legitimate functions.

To confound the public and to create opposition to the Governor's tax propositions, the Governor says the Democrats are giving out statements of alleged losses that localities will suffer if the Special Franchise Tax law is amended or declared by the courts to be unconstitutional. He says that the real figures and facts are deliberately distorted and that if his policy is carried out the localities won't lose a cent. He says there is no relinquishing of the principle of taxing corporations for special privileges and that all the talk to the contrary is ridiculous. trary is ridiculous.

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW INVOLVED The Question of Its Constitutionality Sub mitted to the Court of Appeals. ALBANY, Jan. 22 .- The question as to the Constitutionality of the eight-hour law was argued to-day before the Court of Appeals The care was that of the people vs. the Orange County Road Construction Company, appellant. The company is reputed to be backed by Edward H. Harriman and had a contract with the State and the Orange County Board of Supervisors in July, 1901, to build the road through the town of New Windsor in accordance with the State Good Roads law. It is asserted that the company employed its laborers for ten hours, contrary to the State law. District Attorney Powelson of Orange county had the company indicted by the Grand Jury for a misdemeanor for work the men more than 100 misdemeanor for work that 100 misdemeanor for wo the men more than eight hours in violation of Subdivision 1, section 384 H, of the Penal ode, which declares such act on to be a mis-emeanor, punishable by a fine of not less han $600 nor more than $1,000 for offence.

Attorney William VanName, for the com-pany, demurred to the indictment, and the County Court of Orange county gave judg-ment sustaining the demurrer, agreeing
